1879 Emlen Physick Estate

1048 Washington St., Cape May

Guided tours are offered daily April through December and select dates at other times of the year. Special living history presentations are also available. The Physick House and the Carriage House are air-conditioned for the comfort of visitors.

The Physick House was designed by Frank Furness, the renowned architect of more than 600 buildings in the greater Philadelphia area in the late-19th and early-20th centuries. Such trademark features as the greatly oversized corbelled (upside down) chimneys, jerkinhead dormers, and porch brackets appear in many other Furness buildings of the period.

Also on the grounds is the 1876 Carriage House. Today, it is home to the Carriage House Museum Shop, with merchandise ranging from tea-related items to books, jewelry and more, as well as fine teas.

The Carroll Gallery is the only gallery in the county dedicated to changing exhibits that focus on Cape May history.

The first floor of the house museum, as well as the Carriage House, is fully accessible.

A visit to the Physick Estate offers a look back at the Victorian past: its architecture, decorative arts, customs, and the lives of one Cape May household.

Emlen Physick Jr., his widowed mother, Frances Ralston, and his maiden aunt Emilie Parmentier moved into their home when it was completed in 1879.

Emlen, who never married, was descended from two famous and wealthy Philadelphia families, the Physicks and the Emlens. His grandfather, Dr. Philip Syng Physick, was considered the father of American surgery and invented numerous surgical procedures and medical instruments that are still in use today.

While he did graduate from medical school, Emlen never practiced medicine. In Cape May, he led the life of a gentleman farmer. He bought and sold a great deal of real estate in Cape May, and took an active role in civic affairs.

1859 Cape May Lighthouse

Located in Cape May Point State Park, Lower Township

In December, 1986, the Cape May Lighthouse was leased to Cape May MAC (Museums + Arts + Culture). The organization assumed responsibility for restoring the lighthouse, interpreting it as a historic site and opening it to the public.

The process of restoration took more than 15 years (1987-2002), and was funded by nearly $2 million in grants.

Cape May MAC supervised the restoration of the lighthouse windows and doors, the addition of safety improvements, the restoration of the oil house which is at the entrance to the lighthouse grounds, the restoration of the lantern roof and windows, the interior walls and staircase, an archaeological investigation that located the original privies and walkways, and the restoration of the grounds.

The lighthouse has also been re-painted in its original color scheme, in which the tower is crème and the lantern is red.

Visitors can climb the 199 steps to the top for a breathtaking view of the Atlantic Ocean and Delaware Bay. For those who choose not to climb, the Lighthouse's Oil House has been fully restored, and houses a fully accessible visitors' orientation center as well as a museum shop offering a variety of lighthouse and seashore memorabilia.

Stairway to the Stars offer a chance to visit the Lighthouse at night to witness the start of a new 29.5 day lunar cycle, when the moon is so dark it blends in with the night sky and is invisible to the naked eye.

A beautiful new brick pathway was installed on the grounds in 2021, with dedicated bricks available for purchase.

Tens of thousands of visitors each year experience a visit to the top of the lighthouse, and learn about the Lighthouse Keepers of a century ago.

World War II Lookout Tower

Located near Cape May Point on Sunset Boulevard in Lower Township

Restoration of Fire Control Tower No. 23, a World War II coastal artillery lookout tower, is another Cape May MAC historic preservation success story.

Fire Control Tower No. 23 is New Jersey's last freestanding World War II tower, part of the immense Harbor Defense of the Delaware system known as Fort Miles. Built in 1942, the tower was one of 15 towers that helped aim batteries of coastal artillery. The tower was listed on the National Register of Historic Places on Nov. 17, 2003.

The restoration included building staircases in the Tower so that the public can safely climb to the top; construction of a wooden walkway from the street to the Tower, and a deck around its base to preserve the fragile dune environment; replacing missing windows and doors; recreating historical details, such as the original wooden ladders, and outfitting the watch room and viewing platform at the top; installing interpretive panels along the walkway and at every level in the Tower; and upgrading the existing parking lot across Sunset Boulevard. A Wall of Honor on the third level honors local World War II veterans. An All Veterans Memorial at the rear of the Tower was dedicated in 2012 and is open year-round. The walkway, interpretive panels and All Veterans Memorial are fully accessible.

Museums. Arts. Culture.

Cape May MAC considers the City of Cape May, with its unparalleled collection of Victorian era buildings, a museum without walls.

1879 Emlen Physick Estate

The Emlen Physick Estate is Cape May's only Victorian house museum. A visit to this beautifully restored mansion provides a glimpse into the Victorian lifestyle. The Carriage House is home to the Carroll Gallery with its changing exhibits and the Museum Shop.

1859 Cape May Lighthouse

The Cape May Lighthouse is located in Cape May Point State Park, one of the world's premier birding spots. The tower is both a museum of maritime history and a working lighthouse. A climb up its 199 steps offers a breathtaking view of the Cape.

1942 World War II Lookout Tower

The World War II Lookout Tower tells the story of Cape May's integral role in homeland defense during the war. No tour is complete without a visit to the Wall of Honor dedicated to local veterans and the All Veterans Memorial.

Trolley Tours

Our trolleys provide a variety of day and evening narrated tours through Historic Cape May. Visitors can learn about its unique architecture and colorful history, its paranormal activity, its role in the Underground Railroad, the Native American tribes who inhabited this land, the whaling industry and farming or enjoy a front row view of Cape May's holiday decorations.

Step-on Guide Tours

A Cape May MAC guide can step aboard your bus and accompany your group on an informative and entertaining tour.

- Cape May Point
- Natural Habitats

Vintage

Vintage, the on-site restaurant at the Emlen Physick Estate, creates a modern, eclectic, and delicious dining experience. Vintage is dog-friendly with plenty of outside seating. For intimate groups.
